Dedication

*For moments of reverence instilled by the quietness of your ways,
For the stimulation of a keen observer of ideas
and men,
For the love you gave us
And the love we so happily returned,
For four years made more beautiful by your kindness and inspiration
We thank you, Mr. Roberson, and dedicate to you
Not only this book,
But our lives, to justify the faith you have in us.*

ZEBULON

VANCE ROBERSON, D. D.

Foreword

This, the first year of our second century, has been filled with beauty and peace in spite of a war that demanded sacrifices from each and every one of us. Future years may not be so pleasant. We have published this book in the faith that the memory of this year at Hollins will serve, in years to come, as a reminder of the ideals we hold so close to us now. We have tried to record the things worth remembering, and, at the same time, to curtail expenses as much as possible. We are proud to have contributed all our savings to the war effort, and we know that even though Hollins girls will miss the "extras" we had to omit, Hollins girls will also be proud to have sacrificed them for the good of their world.

At Hollins there exists a student governing system, educational in the practice of democratic living it provides. Through the Executive Council the students have greater responsibility in the management of student affairs. Advancements in all phases of the campus life are made by the Council recommendations to the college administration.

Under the leadership of Marilyn Grobmyer, this year's Executive Council, co-operating with Phyllis McCue, chairman of the Honor Court, Molly Weeks, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee, and President Randolph, has rewritten completely the Constitution and By-Laws of the Student Government Association. Council has also had directive influence in the student war participation on campus, organized a new plan for the orientation of new students, and continued study of the Honor System, Recording System and plan of election.

This year the judicial branch of Student Government has been divided into two councils, the Honor Court and the House Board. The Honor Court serves as a primary judicial council and issues penalties for major offenses in light of the circumstances of a particular case. The House Board, as a secondary judicial council, administers penalties for so-called misdemeanors and, at its discretion, refers chronic offenders and any other offenders that they consider beyond their jurisdiction to the Honor Court.

Freya exists as an honorary organization on the Hollins campus to strengthen and perpetuate the highest ideals by which the students seek to live. It recognizes as members those girls who have contributed to the progressive life of the college in the fields of scholarship, leadership and creativity, and who are guided in all that they do by a spirit of love for and fidelity to the college.

The organization was founded in 1903 by a group of Hollins girls who felt the need for such an organization on campus. As the Norse goddess of spring seemed to the group to be most nearly the embodiment of those ideals for which they strived, they named the organization Freya. Through the succeeding years, as in any living organization, there have been many changes but never has its main purpose been lost, for Freya has always stood for the highest ideals of noble-mindedness and influence for good.

The Y. W. C. A., since its reorganization in 1941-1942, has been an extremely active group on campus. The total membership for the session of 1942-1943 was one hundred and ninety-five. Built on voluntary membership, the organization is divided into five committees—religious activities, community service, campus activities, membership and publicity. These committees work both on campus and in the surrounding community. The ideal of each girl is the realization of a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

Ye Merrie Masquers is our stepping-stone to Broadway. Hopeful Bernhardt and Duses are the wearers of the green masque. Membership is based on a certain number of points earned by participation in plays and backstage work. The members of Ye Merrie Masquers give vent to their dramatic aspirations by choosing the Madonna and producing the Christmas Pageant each year.

The Dramatic Board, with the assistance of Miss Susie Blair, annually directs the casting and production of three plays—in the fall, in the spring, and at Commencement. This year, however, the spring play was omitted in order that the funds might be used toward the war effort. The association, moreover, is in charge of all costumes and equipment of the Little Theatre.

Giving people the opportunity to hear more fine music has been the goal of the Hollins Music Association this year. The entire campus was invited to four musical teas and the Association sponsored a concert by Howard Boatwright, violinist. The Music Board room in Presser was redecorated this winter. In October the Music Association was hostess club to the district meeting of the Virginia Federation of Music Clubs. Members of the Association include students taking applied music or theory and all members of the Choral Club and Choir. The business of the Association is conducted by the Music Board, composed of all music majors.

Besides taking part in the weekly Sunday services, the group has provided a musical program at the Christmas White Gift Service and the Easter Sunday Service on campus. Then, too, there was the collaborated program with Washington and Lee Chorus here in March. These thirty-eight girls attend rehearsals conscientiously three hours weekly and enjoy their work.

THE SPINSTER, Hollins yearbook, reflects campus life at Hollins. In cutting down this year, due to lack of materials and because of the war conditions, many of the features have been omitted. The funds saved by this are to be contributed to the war effort.

During the past years Cargoes, the literary magazine at Hollins, has recorded the trend of thought on the campus; the hopes, the feelings and the aspirations of Hollins girls. In times such as these the staff feels that it is even more important to reveal the reaction of college girls to war, and it hopes that the future girls of Hollins will recognize what value these issues may have.

The purpose of the Writers' Club is to stimulate and recognize creative writing on campus. Membership is granted to those students who have had two articles, prose or poetry, printed in Cargoes, the college magazine. Once a month the club meets at Turner Lodge to read over their works for criticism or to hear informal talks by members of the English faculty. Violent literary debates often cause members and speaker alike to linger over their cup cakes and Cokes long after the meeting has been adjourned.

The Curie Chemical Society is the oldest academic organization on campus, celebrating its twentieth anniversary this year. For full membership, an advanced chemistry course is required; for associate membership, first level chemistry as an elective. Through monthly meetings and occasional visiting speakers this organization attempts to stimulate interest in chemistry and other sciences on campus.

ATHLETIC BOARD

This year the Athletic Board has emphasized more than ever the importance of sports for all girls in connection with physical fitness and the war effort.

The Board is composed of class representatives and sports managers. The most important of the many social and athletic events that are sponsored are the hockey and basket ball rallies. At these rallies athletic awards are presented to girls who have earned them by sports participation.

The Monogram Club is an honorary organization recognizing those girls who excel in athletics. This year the club has taken on a more active policy, and it has revised the methods of recording the individual sports participation. With this increased activity of the club it is hoped that this will encourage many new members.

RIDING CLUB

MARY PEARSON President
 LOUISE HARRIMAN Vice President
 MARGARET HARRIS Secretary and Treasurer

Riding Club members are continually forced to explain to the unlearned that membership is a recognition of ability and interest, not interest alone. For, thanks to the famous parties at Cloverdale, interest in the Riding Club runs high. But it is only through an enthusiastic love for horses and the horsemanship necessary to cling expertly to the meanest "hayburner's" back that a hopeful can ever become one of "Mannie's" and "Gravey's" foster-children. Two events mark the high spots in the all-year riding program, the Fall Gymkhana and the Spring Show. Both are sponsored by the Riding Club, both are more fun than a barrel of monkeys, and both make money which can be turned into War Stamps and Bonds.

A social organization, Cotillion Club provides fun for the campus by having three dances a year. The members of Cotillion ask other girls on campus as their dates. And, too, a number of stags are asked to rush the dates off their feet. After the dance a buffet supper is served to all. Climax of the winter Cotillion was the winning of the cup for the best dancer in the school by Molly Weeks.

MARJORIE FAY UNDERHILL President

Orchesis, the college dance organization, endeavors to stimulate interest in the art of the dance and to increase proficiency in dance technique and choreography. Try-outs for apprenticeship in this club are held each fall, eligibility being based on skill and interest. After a year's work, the girl becomes a full member of the organization. One of the major projects of the Orchesis group is the annual presentation of a dance program in the spring.

SUSAN JOHNSTON ORR President

A. D. A. Who knows what those letters stand for? Only the craziest gals on campus are ever privileged to know, and as a result they entertain the more sedate members of the college community with their antics on all important occasions. If perchance an A.D.A. has forgotten to wear her Royal Purple letters of a Tuesday, you may recognize her by the sense she doesn't make. All work and no play make Gretchen a dull girl, anyway.
